THE PIRST NEWS OF THE RIOT. Sheriff McCarty, of Athens county, sent the following telegram to Governor Hoadly from Buchtel, which is in the neighborhood of where the riot occurred:

The shooting was commenced by the rioters shout a.m., and continued about an hour. I am not able to judge of the number of men, or to say how many shots were fired. The firing was general, and not less than six or seven hundred shot were fired. One hundred or more men were rioning around, with shotguns, rifles and revolvers. One of the guard was shot dead without provocation, and while pleading for mercy, and two others were wounded. The guard returned the fire, but I cannot say whether any person was killed or wounded.

The governor is in readiness to receive such order. A Nelsonville special to the State Jornal, received in the afternoon says; At three a. m., the guards on duty at No. 7 mine were suddenly surrounded by a lot of armed read in the meantime the coal hoppers were discreted on fire. The men had their faces black-coal. The telegraph wires were cut in several places in the valley, cutting off communication. The State Journal representative was surrounded and ordered to leave town or suffer the consequences.

The rioters are firing on the guards at the and Run and Longstreth mines. The governor arrived at midnight, and the Columbus battalion of the Fourteenth regiment has been called to headquarters, and will leave on a special train for the mining district as soon as the train can be put in readiness. Communication by telegraph with that point has been cut off for the past hour.

Governor Hoadley, on arriving at his office at midnight, received the following:

The governor at once ordered out all of the Fourteenth regiment, the Duffy and the Governor's Guards, the Lancaster, Circleville and New Lexington companies, and replied to Sheriff McCarty that the troops were on their way, and asking if more were needed. The Lancaster company being only 20 miles from Logan was sent to that piace to guard the jail. One of the leaders in the riot at Snake Hollow, last night, and the cas believed to have killed O'Hara, was arrested and brought to jail at Logan. The mob was coming into town to release him.

THE STORY OF THE RIOT.

At midnight Satarday night 2,000 or 4,000 nasked men, heavily armed, appeared at inake Hollow, for the purpose of seeking reenge for the many insults thrust upon them ince the strike began. Their appearance was he signal for firing from the guards, which was promptly and vigorously redified to by the attacking party of miners. The firing was very brisk for a few minutes and when the smoke cleared away it was found that O'Hara, from Logan, who was acting as captain of the Snake Hollow Guards, was lying dead with several bullet holes in his body. Two other of the Guards had received slight flesh wounds. It is not known whether may of the miners were wounded. Nother were eft on the field. It is said that the attacking sity had ropes with which to may the "blacklegs," who had peatedly warned to desist in morking, and that they had actually plant of the standard warned to desist in morking, and that they had actually plant of the standard was a rested, charged with control of the standard was actually as a standard was a rested, charged with control of the standard was a stack, and was

GOVHENOR HOADLEY'S PERSONAL ACTION.

The militia are being held, at 2:15 a. m., for further orders. The Lancaster company is at Logan guarding the jail. The Circleville and New Lexington companies have been taken by a special train to Lancaster, and all the rest of the troops ordered out are being held here. The governor has just left on a special train for the scene of the trouble to investigate the matter for himself, and will then order the troops if he thinks necessary. It will take an hour and a half for him to reach the point of trouble.

Governor Hoadly arrived at Logan early Sunday morning. He was met by Sheriff McCarthy at the depot. Everything was quiet, and after holding a short interview both retired, with the understanding that they would meet at 10 o'clock, to talk over the situation. Shariff McCarthy told the would meet at 10 o'clock, to talk over the situation. Sheriff McCarthy told the governor he expected further trouble, and wanted the men on the ground, though he had heard of no depredations on Saturday, night further than some shooting and the cutting of wires between Logan and Longstreth. The governor pressed his questions closely, and told the sheriff that he had nine companies of militia in waiting, but they would not be ordered to move until Monday. In the meantime they would go down amongst the strikers and endeavor to held a consultation with the leaders. The company at Lancaster has arrived at Logan and was placed on duty at the jail. Some one told the governor early in the evening that the trouble was, in a great degree, a political affair, and he concluded not to order the troops to move till he had investigated the matters personally. matters personally.
ALL QUIET IN HOCKING VALLEY.

Everything is quiet this, Monday, morning. There is no suthentic report of damage to person or property last night. There was a rumor this morning that fifteen men had been killed at Buchtel, but it lacks confirmation, and there is probably nothing in the report. Telegraph communication is in good shape this morning, and it was learned that there was continued firing only last night between the strikers and the guards at Sand run and Longstreth. It is not learned that any person was injured. was injured.

Governor Hoadly arrived in Logan in a special train this morning, and is disposed to learn all he can about the situais disposed to learn all he can about the situation before ordering more troops on the ground. He was furnished with a special train by the road, and is accompanied by his private secretary and a representative of the associated press. Governor Headly had a consultation with the leading citizens of Logan this morning, among them being Judge Friesner, Colonel Seth Welby, the sheriff and others. He says he has formed no definite conclusion as yet from the talks he has had, but will make a circuit of the mines and try to see the leaders on both sides. He will be accompanied by the sheriff, Judge Friesner and others.

A confession Made.

Frank Woody, who was arrested and jailed here for participating in the riot on Saturday night, and for shooting William O'Hara, of the guards, made a full confession this morning in which he gave the names of five or six leaders of the attack of Saturday night. Sheriff McCarty will not make public the names of those implicated until the suspected persons have been arrested.

THE TRUE CAUSE OF THE RIOT.

The situation in Hocking Valley is the most dangerous if the miners once organized for offensive measures there. Ten thousand men are idle, and have been so for months because of the disagreement between them and the mine owners about the price to be of the disagreement between them and the mine owners about the price to be paid for mining. The owners have adopted the plan of working miners from elsewhere—Italians and others willing to accept lower rates, and also of using machinery where practicable. Thus these men, in idleness, with families dependent, see their places to-day filled by foreigners and the last hope of employment at any price cut off. The introduction of black-legs, as the men are called, who work at lower rates than the miners claim is just, has been attended with some disturbance. The mine owners have been listurbance. The mine owners have been ossurbance. The mine owners have been compelled to hire guards to protect the men from violence, and the black-legs have been virtually imprisoned in the mines. There has been talk for some time that the miners would concentrate and drive the black-legs from the mine. The work of Saturday night was the first indication of carrying out such a pure first indication of carrying out such a pur

THE STORY OF SATURDAY NIGHT. A fuller account of that disturbance says that it culminated at half-past one o'cleck Sunday morning, by an attack of armed strikers variously estimated at from 75 to 100, resulting in the instant killing of one guard resulting in the instant killing of one guard and the wounding of two others. It is known that a good number of the attacking party were shot, but it is impossible to ascertain their names. Snake Hollow has been guarded by 35 Pinkerton guards, but a few days ago they were transferred to other points, and their places filled by guards from Logan and that neighborhood, twenty-two in number, armed with breech-loading shot-guns and a brace of revolvers apiece. At the and a brace of revolvers apiece. At the time of the attack but nine guards were on duty. They gave the alarm and opened fire. The rest of the guards rallied and for ten minutes a continuous fire was kept up. More than one thousand shots were exchanged, and the strikers were at last driven back. Wm. O'Hara, of Logan, an old veteran of the late war, was doing guard duty at the time. The strikers, no doubt, knew his position, and he was taken by surprise. He was heard to say: "For God's sake, gentlemen, have mercy," and was instantly shot dead, more than forty buckshot entering his body, literally tearing away his shoulders. He was an industrious away his shoulders. He was ah industrious man, much esteemed and well known in Logan. He leaves a wife. Jacob Lieft, an ex-police efficer of Logan, was shot through the calf of the leg by buckshot, but not dangerously. Adam Bower, a German and unmarried, aged about 25 years, was shot in the head by buckshot, receiving a scalp wound, which is not dangerous. The barn was sur rounded by the strikers and all three captured rounded by the strikers and all three captured.
Donnelly was knocked down and badly beaten, but the others escaped. Donnelly said there had their faces blackened, others had handkerchiefs tied over their faces and all were

After being captured I was taken out in the road a distance of about a quarter of a mile, where expected. The man who appeared to be the leader, said: "Boys, it is no use to fight. Our reinforcements have failed to come."

The operators say the object of the attack was to intimidate the new men and run them

REINFORCEMENTS FOR THE STRIKERS.

The miners in the Ohio central region, along Sandy creek, went out to-day on the pretext of not giving the September advance. It is reported that they will join the Hocking Valley strike, being adjacent to that region.

Dispatches from Gear, Ohio, report that the excitement in that region is growing and that there are rumors of more outbreaks having occured last night of which no particulars are obtainable. Three non-union miners went to work this morning but threats of violence against them are growing more and more open. Governor Hoadly's movements are not known, though he is making a personal appeal to the strikers. strikers.

THE BUSINESS YEAR.

SIGNS OF PROSPERITY SEEN IN THE FUTURE

the Cotton Year--The Progress of Charleston and South Carolina -- The Whisky Pool -Savannah Reggins Her Title

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 1 .- The News and Courier publishes a review of the trade and commerce of Charleston for the commercial year, showing a highly satisfactory condition of business. The receipts of cotton for the year were 428,301 bales; rice, 67,476 barrels; naval stores 328,256 casks and barrels: phosphate rock, crude, 196,714 tons; fertilizers, 143,790 tons; product of local manufacturers, excluding fertilizers, was $6,757,400. The total trade amounted to $64,501,190. There is a steady improvement in the condition of the city. A large number of new buildings are going up, and real estate is advancing in value. There have been only two commercial failures of consequence during the year, and neither of these was due to ordinary business causes. The crop reports from all parts of the state show that the crops are looking finely, and farmers are doing well. It is confidently predicted that the city and the state will have a highly prosperous year.

THE WHISKY POOL.

CINCINNATI, September 1.—Saturday night the last name was secured to an agreement which re-establishes the whisky pool. Under the new agreement, which went into effect today, and which is to be in force for one year, the distillers are not permitted to so beyond day, and which is to be in force for one year, the distillers are not permitted to go beyond 40 per cent of their capacity. Houses not running may sell their capacity to the pool at stipulated prices. No member is parmitted to buy another member's capacity. The running capacity of the pool has been scaled down from 50,000 to 37,000 bushels. The election of officers will be held at a meeting to be called soon. NEW ORLEANS, September 1 .- Following is called soon.

New Orleans, September 1.—Following is the national cotton exchange report of the growing crop for August, 1884:

The mouth of August has proven unfavorable for the cotton crop, and the condition has deteriorated, it being now 80 as against 87 for July, 85 for June and 84 for May. In the last report it was said in the Atlantic states, Alabama and parts of Mississippi the crop has grown rapidly, and is very sappy and exposed to a loss of fruit from a hot and dry spell. This fear has been realized, and in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi the loss from shedding and rust has been serious, causing a decline in conditions.

West of Mississippi the continued drought in Texas has further injured the crop of that state, bringing its condition down quite low, while Louisiana and Arkansas also now need rain, though the dsmage has not proved very serious. These two latter states, with Tennessee, rank highest. Our meteorological table shows a lower range of thermometer than last year, but rising to excessive figures last week. The rainful has fallen below the small figures of last season. The growth of the plant has, on the whole, been pretty good over most of the belt excepting Texas, of course, and the fruitage fair, but this has been offset by shedding. The plant is still backward from two to three weeks, and the crop therefore exposed to vicissitudes from early or even average frost. The wormshave done scarcely any damage. Firking will become general from the other many contractions.

crop, twenty days later.

Louisian reports her acreage about the same, and the prospective yield less than last year. The crop is generally late and suffering from drouth.

Mississip reports the crops generally from ten to fourteen days late. There has been some suffering from drouth in Yazoo county, injuring the cotton on the sandy lands. In southern Mississippi the crop is slightly better than last year, and in the castern portion of the state the acreage is about the same, and the yield unchanged. Boil worms reported in several counties, but there is not much fear of their doing any damage.

North Carolina reports a drouth, decreasing the prospective yield. Cotton is two weeks late, and much smaller than last year. No worms reported.

Ficking begins generally on the 15th. Wheat and corn crop larger and generally better than last year.

South Carolina reports the present condition

uth Carolina reports the present condition South Carolina reports the present condition better than last year, but much injured from rust, which may cut short the yield.

Texas—Condition generally unfavorable. The drouth of two months has injured the crop, particularly in the central portion of the state, and cut it short from one-fifth to one-third. Rain now would not materially improve the condition. In eastern Texas, around Jefferson, the crop is better, and a larger yield expected than last year. Rust is reported in several localities. The grain crop is not much injured by the drouth, having generally matured before it came.

Disasters in Business Philadelphia, Pa., September 1.—The Phillips electric cable manufacturing company of this city, has made an assignment to P. C. DeSaque. The assignment was dated August 28th, and included the machinery in the manufactory on Willow street above 12th, and the four patents. The liabilities of the concern could not be ascertained, but is understood that the assignee is the heaviest creditor.

DRY GOODS AND OTHER TRADE PROSPECTS. NEW YORK, September 1.—Interviews with leading wholesale merchants in the dry goods, fancy goods, hardware, clothing and leather and findings trades yesterday yield a very encouraging outlook for the fall trade. The prospects of the usual trade for the last quarter of the year are year, which more promising than the year are very much more promising than at the same time in the last presidential year, although orders are from three to four weeks later than the general rule, owing to overpro-duction in the past and the conservatism of business men west and south. Money is plontiful, but buyers evince a desire to economise in every way possible, taking no chances on novelties and ordering mostly staple goods. A SAVINGS BANK'S MISFORTUNE.

Newcastle, Ohio, September 1.—Wallace's savings bank closed its doors Saturday and suspended payment. Sometime ago the bank was in trouble, and it was thought would be was in trouble, and it was thought would be compelled to suspend, but at a meeting of the principal depositors it was decided to give Mr. Wallace a chance to recover by accepting his notes for the amounts due them, payable in three years, one-third at the expiration of each year. Since that time he has been doing a general banking business, and was thought to be all right. The failure last week of the bank at Jameslown, Dakota, in which his son Robert was largely interested, had a tendency to break the faith of the public in the bank here. Saturday the National bank of Laurens county filed a judgment note for $10,000 against Wallace, and as soon as this transaction became known a rush began and the bank closed. The exact condition of Wallace's affairs is not known, but it is thought his liabilities will reach $100,000, with no assets worth mentioning. He had disposed of nearly all his property at the time of the other trouble.

THE CROPS AROUND TALLADEGA.

THE CROPS AROUND TALLADEGA.

TALLADEGA, September 1.—[Special.]—The present condition of the corn crop, though somewhat late, is exceedingly goed, as compared with that of the same time last year, having had an abundance of rain up until within the past two weeks since the time of plenting, and feel safe in estimating the prospective yield at fully 33 per cent more than that of the preceding year.

The cotton crop, though in a good condition, will be at least one-third short, being heavily damaged by the spring and summer rains.

Wheat—Grain fine, but yield small.
Oats—Good average crop, but from heavy rains reseived considerable damage.

The Virginia Tobacco Crop. Lynchburg tobacco association reported to the meeting held to-day that 1,250,000 pounds of leaf co were sold for the month of August, and 0.000 pounds for the year to date. The reports from the surrounding country show that notwith-standing the late rains, the leaves are maturing rapidly, and extraordinary efforts are being made to cut all the forward plants immediately. The crop is considered an average one in quality and quantity, but the leaves are so small as to change the type of tobacco entirely for this year.

SHORT TALK WITH THE SCRIBES OF THE COUNTY PRESS.

A Prolific Sunflower Stalk-School Day Throughout the State -- A Runaway Marriage -- A Thunder Storm -- A Negro Woman Killed by Lightning - A Negro Boy Shot.

Yesterday was schoolday in Georgia, and it was a day of congratulation. In Atlanta, Savannah. Augusta, Columbus and Macon it found school systems as complete as any exists in New England, attended by thousands of children eager to begin the year's accomplishments, and met by teachers whose character and accomplishments thoroughly fit them for the work. In fifteen or twenty smaller cities systems comparatively as good exist, while there is hardly a hamlet in the state in which a beginning has not been made. One of the gratifying incidents of yesterday's work was the increased evidence of interest taken by the parents in what was going on. From all points come reports of their presence in large numbers.
This is an incentive to both pupil and tutor, as well as a proof that progress will henceforth be the watchword in Georgia. The Wrightsville Recorder on this subject says: Gorder on this subject says:

If there is one thing that a community should look to more than another, it is the education of their children; for the reins of government must soon drop from our hands, and fall into the hands of the rising gener tion. In the near future they are to become our statesmen, lawyers, doctors and divines, and it is our imperative duty to qualify them to the best of our ability for the grave responsibilities which await them.

To the Georgia farmer: If you are poor, borrow ing money will not make you rich, the mortgage and the fourteen per cent will only eat out your vitals. Begin at the bottom with the hoe, and let your accumulations be your own. It will be good deal better, even if little, than trotting seventy-five or a hundred miles to Atlanta to hear Judge McCay foreclose your mortgage.

This family is the possessor of an old time clock, made entirely of wood, and is between three and four feet in height, and that had three and four feet in height, and is between three and four feet in height, and that had "kept the time, with its soft and muffled chime," for twenty-five years, up to about six years 2go, when it "stopped, short, never to go again," and no amount of fixing or coaxing could ever induce its silent pendulum to measure again the metres of time. Little was thought at this time of its curious antics, as it was supposed it had passed its day of usefulness, and was "set by," to be handed down to posterity as a family heir-loom, and a newer and more elaborate one took its ascustomed place, and performed the silent watches of time, as only a clock can do.

Time went by, and the dust of years accumulated on its face and wheels, and still it stoed there as dumb as it was on the day it so suddenly and mysteriously stopped some six years ago.

NORCROSS, GA., September 1 .- [Special.]-The Peabody normal institute at this place has just closed its session of four weeks. The attendance of teachers for instruction was small, but with this exception, the session was satisfactory and profitable. The thin attendance was owing partly to the want of other attractions at Noreross, but chiefly to the fact that the country public schools in the surrounding counties are now in session, from which their teachers could not be excused. The number of white teachers and applicants was about thirty, while over twenty colored persons presented themselves, who were of course taught in a separate class. Instruction was given three hours a day, both by lecture and class drill, in English grammar and analysis, geography with map drawling, spelling and pronunciation, to which a good deal of time was given, and arithmetic. The teachers were W. H. Baker, superintendent of public schools in Savannah; W. S. Bogart. Dr. J. G. Orr, state school commissioner, was present the first week, and spent a half hour every morning in explaining the school laws and instructing the teachers in the routine of their duties. In the afternoons interesting discussions were held on these subjects between Dr. Orr, the corps of instructors, and some of the most intelligent county commissioners who were present. In addition, the classes heard on every Friday this exception, the session was satisfactory and

The citizens of the town furnished them with bedding and provisions and Dr. Fogle gave them medical treatment. On the 30th inst. the woman died and was given a decent burial at the expense of the town. She was of small stature, black eyes and hair, high cheek bone and sallow compexion, and apparently twenty four or five years old. She had a full set of natural teeth in front. Mr. Jackson said she was his second wife and that they had been married two years; that they were on their way from Jackson county, where they had been raised, but for the last twelve years he had lived near Orange lake, Fla., and thither they were going. The woman stated before her death that her name was Lizzle Wilson, and that of her supposed husband was John Little; that he had deserted his family in Hall county and ran off with her. While various circumstances cast suspicion on the parties, the woman's statements are not accepted as fully reliable, from the fact that they might have been made while she was delirious. It is not believed by any one here that Jackson alias Little told the truth in regard to the matter. woman sick with fever. The citizens of the town

Such congregations seldom assemble and have such a treat as the doctor gave them yesterday. The church is a credit to the members, to the town, and one that would do honor to any small village. The population will not exceed 500, and we have six churches, three white and three colored, three Baptist and three Methodist, with a fair prospect now on foot for a Presbyterian church.

A REMARKABLE CURE! -IN WHICH-

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

---DECIDED-TO USE THE KNIFE.

My wife and daughter suffered for years with an affection of the threat, which was gradually but surely undermining their health, and was a source of anxiety to all of us. Two of the best physicians of the city and also a surgeon were called in, and after a careful examination they decided that there was no chance for a cure unless they would consent to undergo a surgical operation. We were much opposed to the knife being used, until all other means had been exhausted. So, we began to use different throat remedies sold at drug stores. We finally got to Brewer's Lung Restorer, and the effects were truly wonderful; and after a few bottles had been taken they were entirely relieved of the trouble and their health fully restored. It any of my family should ever be similarly affected, I would, if necessary, travel around the world in order to get this remedy.

Very respectfully, W-H. MANSFIELD,

Macon, Ga., August 18th. 1880.
With great pleasure I certify to the efficacy of that truly excellent preparation—Brewer's Lung Restorer. It has indeed proven to be a sovereign remedy in my family. For many months my wife has suifered from weak lungs, and has experienced great difficulty in breathing, so much so that she could not sleep at all at night; she also lost her appetite, and, in fact, her condition was truly alarming. The Lung Restorer having been recommended by several friends, I resolved to getit and test its virtues, which I did, and with the most happy effect. She has taken but two bottles, and the result is wonderful. She now experiences no difficulty in breathing, her appetite is good, and she is rapidly regaining her strength and I am convinced its continued use will effect a permanent it to all who have weak lungs, as it cannot fail to be of great benefit to all who may give it a trial.

Yours truly,

GEORGE W. SIMS.

Killing the Meion Traffic.

The Inter-Ocean recently interviewed a melon dealer in Chicago. He said that as a rule melon dealer in Chicago. He said that as a rule the shipper of melons from points as far south as Georgia lost their consignments, and the commission men lost on as many cars as they made anything. The freight ate up everything. They were difficult ato handle; if they were placed more than four deep in a car, they were crushed by their own weight, and first-class freight was charged for transportation. In order to pay the Georgia grower anything the melons must sell for $6 per dozen. Last year he received a car load from Georgia on which he paid $120 freight. per dozen. Last year he received a carload from Georgia on which he paid $120 freight. Of the melons 250 were broken. The remaining 340 melons he sold at from $2 to $2.25 per dozen, thus losing $40 on the lot. Some years ago there was some profit in bringing melons from the south, but too many had gone into the business. The market had not been so badly glutted this year, but they could not sell with profit to shippers from a greater distance than 200 or 200 miles. Inst week large molous were selling at from $12 to $15 per 100 with freight in the neighborhood of $9 per 100, but the cocl weather of this week brought prices immediately down to $5 and $7 per 100, and they were consequently a loss to the handler

Feport of the Georgia Railroad Commission -- Suggestions About Amendments. The commissioners have always thought that as 1ew changes as was considered consistent with the blic interest, should be made in the schedule of tes provided for the railroads of the state. We have felt that stability in rates was an important feature to be considered. In prescribing schedules and making changes therein we have ever kept this important feature in view. This accounts sufficiently for the very few circulars changing rates that the commission has found it necessary to make since the date of our last report. Many questions arising out of the varied interests of the railroads and the people have been presented to the

to make since the date of our last report. Many questions arising out of the varied interests of the railroads and the people have been presented to the commission for its decision. In most of these cases, however, we have not found it necessary or proper to order charges of rates. In all such cases we have not published the action of the commission. We have irequently been called upon by the people of other states as well as of our own state for information in reference to our action and its results in the light of experience. Whatever we have done is shown by the records and papers of this oflice, which are all ways open to inspection and to which we respectfully invite your excellency's attention.

Complaints have frequently been made that the right of appeal to the courts does not lie from the decisions and rulings of the commission. This has, in some instances, been made a pretext for assailing the commission itself, it has been claimed that the decisions of the commission were autocratic and that the great interests of the railroad companies of the state were placed by the law in the bands of an irresponsible tribunal. We hardly think it necessary to call your excellency's attention to the erroneousness of such a claim. So far as the commissioners themselves are concerned, as far back as May, 1881, in a report, then submitted by the governor of the state, they took occasion to call attention to this subject. They then felt, as they still leet, that the want of the right of direct appeal irom their decisions greatly increased their responsibility. Acting upon this conviction they have been ever carciuit to so regulate their conduction all cases as to do no injustice either to the railroads or to the public.

We would not be uncerstood, however, as intending to admit that the right to have the decisions greatly increased their responsibility. Acting upon this conviction made they be commission, which does injustice to any party, may be reviewed by the courts.

To show more particularly and at large what our nutherizing such change, scould be so guarded in its provisions as not to impair the usefulness of the commission to the public.

While a complaining party ought to have the right of appeal, he should not be left at liberty to indefinitely suspend the action of the commission by a frivolous and wanton exercise of that right. Persons familiar with the practice of our coarts knew how easily cases may be continued from term to term, and how frequently such continuances result in gross injustice. In the matter under consideration such an evil should be strictly guarded against. Impressed with the importance of this, we do not hesitate to recommend that a supersedeus of our decisions should not be worked by any appeal which may be given. The reasonableness of this view is sufficiently pointed out in the extracts which we have submitted. We do not think that great injustice would result from a certain period any schedule of rates adopted by the commissioners' rulings. Under the law as it now stands we are required to publish for a certain period any schedule of rates adopted by the commission, and pending such publication such schedule is net of force. The period required for such publication would, in most instances, be sufficient to enable the party complaining to have his cause adjudicated by the courts. With proper legal provisions for prompt action and speedy hearing before the court, we see no reason why the right of appeal should not be given, so that complaining parties, whether railroads Individual clitates or communities might be allowed to enjoy a highly valued constitutional privileze, while the public interest would not necessarily suffer thereby. But we desire to press upon your excellency the very great importance of having such appeals finally decided within the shortest privile of the peal that their orders requiring publican on the provide that their orders requiring publican on shall not go into operation short of thirty (30) days after their adoption. Experience has shown to us the wisdom of this practice. This period of time we think sufficient to secure to appealing parties their rights in the courts.

We would therefore respectfully suggest that any amendment of the law giving the right of appeal from the decision of the commission should be so guarded as not to allow a suspension of the action of the commission for a period longer than thirty days. We do not venture to suggest all the special provisions which would necessarily enter into legislation on this subject. We deem it sufficient that we should very clearly indicate to your excellency our opinion as to the propriety of giving the right of appeal to the courts, and the necessity of incorporating into the law provisions guarding the public against the evils which might possibly result from any attempt to abuse the privilege.

The commissioners have had under consideration the propriety of recommending other changes in the law establishing the commission. We begt to reserve these recommending other changes in the law establishing the commission. We begt to reserve these recommendations, however, for our annual report, which will be submitted to your excellency prior to the next meeting of the general assembly of the state.

An enormous edition, consisting of

With our new outfit and equipment we can make a paper that will advertise Atlanta far and wide, and that will be a matter of pride to every Georgian.

We feel that we have the right to appeal to the Atlanta public for a generous patronage, and to expect every merchant and manufacturer in the city to aid us in carrying out this great undertaking, that will redound no less to the honor of Atlanta than to our own profit.

The paper will be for sale in wrappers at 5 cents each, and our people can find no better way to build up the city than by sending out this paper, which shall be an apostle for Atlanta and for Georgia. Orders for papers should be filed as early as possible.

JUST TWENTY YEARS AGO.

This is a notable anniversary. Just twenty years ago to-day Atlanta lay at the mercy of the sword and the torch

What escaped the one was destined to be licked up by the other. On the 2d of September, 1864, the gate city slipped from the nerveless embrace of her exhausted defenders and fell into the rude clutches of a ruthless despoiler.

Twenty years ago! It was just such an autumnal morn as we greet to-day. The city, dismantled and half deserted, awaited her fate, like some pallid, panting victim filled with a shuddering consciousness of her doom. Between two flags, and under neither; deprived even of the selfish protection of an enemy, what could result but anarchy. For a while all was chaos. But events moved that disastrous day with the rapidity of light ning. The sulphurous canopy which had hung over the city during the long and weary weeks of the siege gradually drifted away. grew fainter. An awful stillness brooded over the scene.

Then came the dreadful awakening. Just as the last lingering strains of Dixie melted away over the southern hills, the air was filled with the throbbing blare of Yankee Doodle. Again the city pulsed and thrilled with feverish life. The crimson tide of conquest rolled through her gates. The streets resounded with the clash and clangor of steel, and the very earth quaked under the thundering tread of Sherman's bannere

We are not going to dig up old horrors. The violence, the red-handed robbery and the mad incendiarism of the invaders may blacken other pages; we prefer something brighter for ours Then why recall such memories? Only in order to contrast the Atlanta of twenty years ago with the Atlanta of to-day. After seeing the worn and shattered city, whirling around in the very vortex of war, and plunged into a baptism of fire, it is a glorious sight to look upon the proud and queenly metropolis of to-day. The ancients told a pretty story of the phenix rising from its ashes. It is a marvelous tale, but the story of this phonix of cities lays it in the shade.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS' RE-PORT.

The railroad commission made to the gov ernor yesterday a report as required by the law creating the board, covering their action from last report and including their orders from circular No. 41 to circular No. 46. They merely quote the orders referred to and make little comment on them. It will be seen that the commissioners have made few changes in rates since their last report.

The bulk of the report is taken up in sug gestions about certain amendments to the law, and the commissioners intimate in the conclusion of their report that they will suggest other amendments to the law in their annual report which will be submitted to the governor prior to the next meeting of the general assembly of the state, November

We print in another column the recon mendations made by the commissioners as to the present law.

Two points of complaint are made by the railroads to the present law, and we think the defects they claim to exist ought to be remedied by the legislature.

They claim (1) that the railroads ought to have notice before their rates are changed by the board, and (2) that there ought to be the right of appeal from the decision of the board to the courts by either party dissatisfied.

As to the first point we deem it due to any one who has any rights to defend that he have proper notice before the state interposes to correct a wrong complained of. It s granted to every class of citizens, and when the smallest quantity of property is involved they have the right under our law, to make their showing, and the railroads ought not to be made an exception to this law. We be lieve the commissioners are in favor of the fullest notice, and that there will be no objection if it can be shown that the law is defective on that point. As to the second: It appears from reading the present report that the commissioners have been in favor of making an amendment to the present law or the subject of appeals. They cite from for mer reports. They have put the question be yond all doubt in this report, and while they do not go into detail as to how the law shall be amended, they clearly state that it will not render the commission more inefficient if the law is properly amended on this subject. It will go a great way towards removing strong objections heretofore argued by railroad men to the commission for the legislature to give them the right of appeal. Besides it is right, and whatever is right ought to be the law. We admit that we have heard frequently railroad men say that they have been met with the reply, when offering their bonds for sale on railroad property in this state, that there was no trouble to negotiate the bonds on account of money and the nature of the investment, but that the men in charge of the road had no right to manage their own affairs: that the railroad commission had full control over the roads, and there was no appeal from their decision. Now, while this is putting the case very strong-stronger than the status of the law, we think, will authorize -yet we think that there ought to be an good ground of complaint can exist. The commissionioners have acted as we always thought they would; they make an honest suggestion to have certain defects in the law amended so as to make it more efficient, and we hope that the managers of railroads who have been trying to have the law repealed will meet the suggestion in the same spirit, and let both labor together to perfect the law, and make it what it ought to be-a safegard to the railroads and a protection to amendment giving an appeal, so that no

While THE CONSTITUTION has been from the beginning an earnest advocate of the commission, and will continue to be, because we think the law is proper and just, we will do all we can to make it more efficient, and we have no desire to pander to a prejudice that may exist against railroads that would force a commission on them to do as great a wrong may have made mistakes; but no board could have met the intricate questions submitted to them by the legislature when this law was passed with more firmness and better judgment. The improved condition of the rail roads, the present feeling of the people who use the railroads, and the improvements in our towns and villages along the line of the railroads, all go to show that the law was a wise one, and only needs such modifications, as will almost be admitted by both sides, to make it one of the best laws on our statute books. The time will come when the railroad managers in this state will be as strongly in favor of the commission as the people are They are finding out now that the law can be used for their protection, as well as to prevent uniust discriminations. They are just as much entitled to proper protection under the law as any property in the state. If the present law does not give it to them, let the egislature amend it so that there can be no oubt about it-and let there be an honest square effort to so amend the law as to make more efficient and just, and the time is not

THE Birmingham Chronicle joins a number of Alabama papers in asking the question: the best lands of Alabama be abandoned by th white peeple, and turned over to the negroes! What is needed, the Chronicle thinks, is intelli gent farming. If farmers allow their lands to fill with gullies, grow up in weeds, the bald spotgrowing bigger every year and the fences and our houses going to rack, the younger generation will become disgusted with farm life and move to town. This is the same nine that beat the Stars a well Henry Jones, a colored postoffice clerk on the and Georgia railroad, who is known as one of t leading colored citizens of the city.

On July 19th Messrs. W. J. Williams & Co., of Temperance, Georgia, addressed to Messrs. S. T. Coleman & Co.. of this city, a draft No. 1709 for $79.08 on the Savannah Bank and Trust company, drawn by R. P. Paul, secretary and treasurer Hilton Timber and Lumber company of of Darien, Ga., payable to the order of J. R. Walker which was indorsed by him. The letter did not reach its destination. July 25 the firm wrote to Messrs. S. T. Coleman & Co., inquiring it had been received, to which they replied it had not. This firm August 1 notified the bank in Savannah of the lost draft and asked them to look out for it to protect the rightful owner of it. The 22d the draft was presented at the bank of the state of Georgia at Savannah by the agent of the Ssouthern express commany properly indexes. 22d the draft was presented at the bank of the state of Georgia at Savannah by the agent of the Southern express company properly indorsed and 0 K, having been turned over at Memphis, Tenn., by the Southern express company for collection, the proceeds to go to J. N. Smith, care S. H. Land, at the Mississippi and Tennessee depot, Memphis, The draft was paid and forwarded to the company there on the 22d. Messrs. W. J. Williams & Co., were written the facts, and immediately Mr. C. C. Fletcher, of the firm, came to Macon. Mr. W. H. Burden, of the firm of S. T. Coleman & Co., accompanied him to the express office and had a consultation with Mr. Thomas Henderson, the agent here, who immediately telephoned Postmaster Brown to join the meeting. He went down at once and asked that the matter be furnished him in detail. The correspondence was given him and the night of the 27th he malled them to Chief Inspector of the Mail Service Hartshorn, at Atlanta, who sent immediately inspector Livingston, to Memphis, Tenn., where he began to trace it up. for the Atlantas won the whole town, and we usslike to give up such clever fellows. With Walter Brown and John Ryan both in town, victory was certain, and they take back home the hearts of all our ball tossers. Everybody agrees that the Atlantas are the best ball players seen in Augusta, and three games played without one word of disagreement or a single kick is in striking and pleasant contrast to clubs we know of. All three games were umpired by John O'Brien, and the Atlantas expressed a unanimous vote of thanks. The game to-day was well played on both sides, but Atlanta outplayed Augusta all around the batteries. It was the same as Saturday's ten inning, a tie game, and while the play was not as exciting or quite effective, everybody was delighted. Hunter and Masron are the best battery seen in Augusta. Reccius, Kriel, Leighton and Cox are also favorite players to day. Russ and Sleiger did not play to-day, but their short exhibition Friday captured the crowd. Reccius, perhaps, made the best record of all, but Kriel did not have a good chance till to-day, when he played a pretty game without an error.

THE FIRST THREE RUSS.

At'antas made the first three runs in the second in ming. Reccius took the base on balls, went to third on Masron's hit, and scored on Cox's hits. Masron sent the ball past the third base, went to second, and scored on Cox's hit. Cox made a safe hit bast the short stop, took the second and

Last Sunday the symptoms were more favorable, but yesterday morning the patient rapidly grew worse, and at half past 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon expired. Dr. Gray and a relative of Mr. Lovett, Dr. Holmes, of Rome, were by his side when he died. The remains were taken last night home by the Central railroad and will reach Waynosboro this morning, and thence to the family burial ground some twenty miles distant in Burke county. If he is leave him alone and let him far the grade and then leave it. If anyone is in med by the change let the owner sue the city.

Councilman Longley, declared that engineers frequently made grades that were objectionable and cited as an instance the present grade on, Filmore street. There he declared everybody was damaged and notified the body that he would sue for damages if proposed grade on that street was carried out.

At Coal Centre, Pa., the sheriff did not call At Coal Centre, Pa., the sheriff did not call at the miners' camp, consequently the strikers are still on the ground, and as determined as ever. Keel's mines were not visited to-day, and the officers on guard had a quiet time. A call was made at the Empire works, but the non-unionists, after a peaceful consultation, declined to come out. The event to-day was the arrival at Country of a pumber of the hon-unionists, after a peaceful consultation, declined to come out. The event to-day was the arrival at Courtney of a number of Hungarians for the purpose of going to work at the Garfield mines. No Hungarians have heretofore been employed in the district, and their advent at this time is regarded with concern. A camp will be established at Courtney to-morrow to prevent them from going to work. Governor Hoadly and others, who have been making an inspection of the mining situation in Hocking valley, to-day, returned to this city tonight. The governor says the situation is perplexing and of a threatening character. He thinks with the men in their present temper that it will be some time before the struggle is over unless the proprietors should determine to make some cencessions. He made a personal visit to the mines with the hope that the situation would prove to be such that there would be no necessity for sending troops. In this, however he was disappointed. At five o'clock this evening he honored the requisitien of the sheriff for troops, and sent three companies to the most critical points, being Longstreth, Snake Hollow and Sand Run. On the way to Columbus the governor had a request for two more companies at Longstreth, two at Murray, City, and to guard the property of the Hocking Valley roads and its bridge in the valley. He, however, refused to send more troops to-night, but ordered several composites to be in readiness to go to-morrow afternoon, should they be needed. At the two latter places named, they feared an attack to-night, When the governor left Logan for the trip to the mines he telegraphed to all points that he wished to consult with the leading miners, and at some of the places, on the arrival of the trains, there were as many as 500 idle miners who had zathered to hear what he had to say.
At Nelsonville there were between 600 and 700 men present, with carriages and a band, to escort the governor to the public square for the purpose of having him make a speech. They had appointed a committee carlier in the day to ask a number of questions as to what the governor proposed, and they make and the miners were not very well pleased at this move, as they had supposed the governor would not make such an order unless he was forced to do so. In reply to the demand of the sheriff for men he expressly stipulated that they shall be used only for the purpose of protecting life and property.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movements in Grain and Produce. By telegraph to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, September 1-The volume of trading on 'change to-day was large, and a stronger feeling prevailed in all the markets. Wheat opened strong and 1/6% higher, influenced somewhat by a better tone in foreign advices and reported we weather in England, but offerings were quite free, and a decline of 1/2c soon followed, but under a good demand, and after the pressure to sell had subsided, the market improved again 3/c, fluctua-ted and closed on the regular board about %c over Saturday. On the afternoon board prices again advanced about 1,c, closing at 80c for Sept 81%c for October, 83%c for November and 85%c for December.

Corn was in good demand, and the market was strong and higher. Receipts were fair and the short interest were rather disposed to buy. Cash was in good request, and this tended to strengthen the feeling in near futures. The market lopened firmer and a shade higher, then sold off %@%c, rallied 1c under a good demand, fluctuated and closed 1/4@%c over Saturday. No change occurred on the afternoon board, the market closing at 521/2c for September, 50%c for October and 46%e for No. vember.

Oats were easier early, but rallied to previous figures later in the session, closing at 25% of for September and 26% of for October.

Pork was dull and easy, closing at $19.00 for September and October and $11.15 for all the year. Lard was firmer on the regular board but easy again on the afternoon board, closing at $7.47% for October and $7.523/2 for November.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

THE TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF SHERMAN'S VISIT.

How Atlanta Succumbed to Overpowering Porces Sherman After a Season of Shot and Shell Comes in and Possesses the Town-How the City was Burned and Resurrected

Twenty years ago to-day Sherman's victorious hosts marched into Atlanta, and like a blue wave spread into every nook and corner of the city, eighty thousand strong. The last retreating cavalryman of the defeated rebels dashed down Decatur street twenty years ago to-day to the invigorating rattle of musketry sis Slocum's men came from down Marietta street behind them.

"Yes, sir," said Councilman Mahoney yesterday, "I saw the last cavalryman dash down this street followed by the whizzing bullets. As the confederates clattered down the street, As the confederates cattered own the stress, one man—the list man—dropped his musket. Did he stop to pick it up? No! He drove the spurs into his horse's sides and soon was in the midst of his fleeing companions. The yanks were too close to him and the bullets were flying too thick for him to lose any time picking up a musket."

HOW ATLANTA WAS EVACUATED. It was twenty years ago last night. The city had been shelled for six weeks and the city had been shelled for six weeks and the reign of terror was at its heat. The battle of the 22d and the battle of Ezra church had been fought the battle of Ezra church had been fought the Jonesboro fighting was over and deleat had settled upon the confederate banner. Many houses were deserted by the panic stricken people. For two days the non-combatants had been unable to get any reliable information of the movements of the two armies. On the night of the 1st there was an unusual clatter of horses' hoofs in the city and an increased tramp, tramp, tramp of the moving army as Hood prepared to withdraw his troops from the city he could no longer defend.

At midnight the ordnance train and seventy odd cer loads of powder, shells and cartridges was run from a point near the center of the city to about opposite General Geford's residence, and the rebals began the destruction of the engines of death they could no longer use. Boom after boom of battle thunder rent the air and startled the city, shaking it as an earthquake. As a mass of explosives would fire off the air for hundreds of feet upward would be, "as if filled with a million reckets." Women and children screamed with terror. In the midst of all this there lived near the place many families of very poor people, whose miserable little children zan about the yards begging most piteously to be saved from the volcano of fire that every moment belebed from the burning ambulance train, flashed into the darkness far above their heads and then fell backward to the earth. In the midst of this, the non-combatants were in a state of terror and for the greater part, remained in doors. As soon as the confederates had left town, howseon as the confederates had left town, however, a horde of people from the country came

On the 4th of September General Sherman issued his order for all the non-combatants to city within ten days, and the children prepared to shake the dust of ita from their feet. Away they went, and Atlanta was a vast military camp, occupied by Sherman's conqueriny army.

Then a season of despoliation followed.

Ecme of the finest houses in the city were torn dewn and the lumber used in making shauties for the soldiers. Judge Erskine's handsome place was one to suffer in this way. There was a notable case of a soldier who sported a crystal palace—a house made entirely of window Thus did Sherman's troops occupy Atlanta

THAT PATAL NOVEMBER NIGHT Sherman had prepared to leave. From the first entrance of the blue coats, there had been agencial belief that the city would be burned. Such a fate was talked of on all sides.

At last the fatal time arrived and the torchwas applied. A wild fire it was as the busy little city of fifteen thousand people was turned over to the devouring element. All the business part of the city was a mass of flame that rapidly surveyed in over the devouring and when ness part of the city was a mass of flame that rapidly spread in every direction, and when morning dawned the smoking ruins and tottering walls, and sentinel-like chimneys marked the charred spot, and as the last federal disappeared over the brow of Gartrell's hill stillness and desolation reigned about the spot where Atlants had stood. Piles of brick from which purple smoke lazily curled up told of the ravished city and over it all the silence of death brooded.

Three ribs were broken by the lick.

was at 459 West Mitchell street, was run over by a portion of a freight train yesterday morning at the Foundry street crossing, and so bedly injured that he died within a short time after the accident happened.

Maxey had been in the government service, and was recently made guager for Cohen's distillery near the Chattahoochee river. He was in the habit of visiting his family as often as he could without neglecting his duties at the distillery, and would usually let these visit extend over night. Sunday night he was in the city, and early yesterday morning left his home to catch an early freight train for the river. The train's time for departure was five o'clock, and just about that time Maxey reached the State road shops. As he came up the train was beginning to pull out, and Maxey tried to jump on the front end of the cab. The train was near the Foundry street crossing, and was moving at about four miles an hour when the unfortunate man approached it. He grabbed the guard around the platform, and with confidence in his ability to jump safely upon the step, made the fatal leap. One foot reached the bottom step the platform, and with confidence in his ability to jump safely upon the step, made the fatal leap. One foot reached the bottom step safely, but while pulling himself up Maxey's hold broke and be dropped in front of the car. As he fell he realized his great danger and made every reasible effort to escape and succeeded every possible effort to escape and succeeded in throwing his body outside the track. The wheels of the cab passed over both legs crushing them into atoms. His body was rolled along the ground some distance, and was terribly scratched and bruised as was also his head and face. The accident was witnessed by several persons, who ran to the injured man and removed him to Winship's foundry. A carriage was quickly obtained and he was removed to his home, where Drs. Gray and Parks visited him. The wounds on his head and body were found to be slight, but a glance at his simbs showed that death would probably ensue. The right leg was crushed to and above the knees, and the bone and flesh were ground so fine that it was almost impossible to believe that the mass had once been a limb. The entire calf had been torn away from the lett leg and the bone had been broken in a half dozen places. Maxey was quite low when the physicians reached him and they declined to undertake an amputation, hoping that he would revive, but about eight o'clock death ensued and the amputation was prevented.

The evidence adduced wat about as stated herein and the jury returned a verdict in accordance therewith after a great deal of in accordance therewith after a great deal of wrangling. Maxey was a hard working, faithful colored man. He had been in the government's service for a long time and was trustworthy. Some time ago he was at Cohen's distillery, but was transferred to another distillery, where he remained until last week, when he was ordered again to Cohen's. Yesterday morning he was going up to the distillery to report for duty when the accident happened. Maxey was a brother-in-law to W. A. Pledger, collector of customs in Atlanta. His body was interred in Oakland cemetery.

A GRAND OPENING.

Atlenta had an unusually busy Monday to start the surrent week with. Nearly every household in the city was astir earlier than usual. There were many evidences that no ordinary day was upon the city. By eight o'clock the streets clearly revealed the secret. Troops of children, of ages from six to sixteen, filied them and moved in various directions. They were seeking the public schools of Atlents, which had thrown open their doors for the fall session. The rush for tickets of admission during the preceding week had toreto-kened true Grandest opening ever known since the schools were organized.

It was a question how to accommodate as many children as possible, and how to scatter the benefits of the schools most liberally among the people. Superintendent Staton had a severe task in his endeavor to prepare for the events of vesterday, and when they for the events of yesterday, and when they came his patience and ingenuity were heavily taxed. All the schools opened well full, and the pupils who are admitted hereafter will run the total attendance far above anything in the school history of Atlanta. The girls high school, for instance, started out with 261 pupils, a larger number than the school showed at its best during the past school year. It is thought that the total attendance in this school will reach 390 in a few days, which is about the limit in a few days, which is about the limit of its capacity. The boys' high school began with the prospect of the greatest attendance it has ever had. In the six white and the three colored grammar schools there was a magnificent attendance, but the Walker street school had the largest throng of all. This school was double graded last session and had nearly ONE THOUSAND PUPILS When it closed last June. Yesterday morning Professor Bizien and the fourteen teachers who assist him, were met by 395 boys and 421 girls, making a total of 816 pupils, ready to enter. In all the schools the children were arranged in their proper grades, and dismissed as soon as practicable, so that they could purchase the proper books and prepare for the regular work of the session, that will begin to-day. The book stores were thronged until after dark last night supplying the young purchasers. Beyond doubt there will be over five thousand rupils in the schools this session, and it is feared that all who desire tuition can hardly be accommodated. If you want to witness a pretty scene watch the streets of Atlanta about half past eight this morning as the thousands of boys and girls go merrily to school. A SLOW REGISTRATION.

Only Iwo Hundred Voters in a District Where There are Two Thousand. For several weeks the registration books for

For several weeks the registration books for Fulton county have been open. The privilege to record their names does not appear to be readily appreciated by the local sovereigns, or, it may be that most of them are not aware of the existence of the new registration law. It is time that they were waking up to the situation as the books will close on the 20th of this month. It is necessary for them to register before they can vote for members of the legislature, governor, state officers, president and congressman. Two offices for registration are open in Atlanta. One at the courthouse is in charge of Mr. W. H. Turner. Here all voters living in the South Atlanta district must register if they want to take part in the state and national elections. There are considerably over two thousand voters in the district, but as yet siderably over two thousand voters in the district, but as yet

ONLY TWO HUNDRED

of them have registered. The books for the north Atlanta district are in charge of Mr. J.

E. Williams, who has an office on Peachtree street next to the Bank of the State of Georgia. About the same number of names have been registered there as are reported from the south Atlanta district. Both registers may be found in their offices at any hour during the day. The following oath must be subscribed by every voter who comes up to register:

must be subscribed by every voter who comes up to register:

1—, do swear that I am a citizen of the United States, and that I have resided in the state of Georgia one year preceding the next coming election, and that I have resided in Fulton county six months, and I am twenty-one years of age, and have paid all state and county taxes due by me except for the year of this election.

As the time for closing the books draws near registration will be more rapid of course, and a full vote may yet be duly recorded. The law is strictly drawn and all who want to cast a ballot in the October or November election had better walk up at once and register.

TO-MORROW'S ELECTION.

THE CHOICE OF CLAYTON COUNTY THE CHOICE OF CLAYTON COUNTY for senator. Some time ago Clayton put forth Colonel W. A. Tigner as her choice and it is therefore practically settled that he will be the nominee. While the senatorial race offers, therefore, no special interest, the contest for the lower house is going to be lively. Fortunately the excitement will be no more than the honest enthusiasm of the friends of the various aspirants. The canvass has been conducted on a higher plane than is usually adopted, and the candidates have not resorted to the methods too often adopted in such a contest. As far as can be ascertained in the run of the talk on the streets, good feeling exists arrows the various excitate and ing exists among the various aspirants, and they are engaged in a friendly cam-paign. The city precints will open at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, and will close at six in the afternoon. The other precincts in the county will close at three o'clock, and it is probable that the full vote will be consolidated by midnight. Last night there was

A Great Run. We predict the above for the well known house of John Ryan for the next month. As we were pas sing this grand establishment we met Mr. Ryan who very cordially greeted the reporter, and asked him in to show him something wonderful in the dry goods line. Being anxious at all times to see thousands. We were simply dumbfounded at the totals of their invoices, and made the remark to Mr. Ryan that there was enough goods to last him for a year. He simply smiled, and replied "that he would sell the entire lot before thirty days," for he said "I have bought these goods at fabulous low prices, such as has never before been seen in the United States, and can sell them to any merchant in the south for less prices than elsewhere. Of course this is a tremenduous quantity of gbods, in fact more than I ever before bought—so much so that I had to drawfon the Atlanta National bank for more funds—and I now announce to my customers through Georgia that if they wish to get the biggest bargains they ever bought to call on me, as I wish to replenish my depleted treasury."
